

A platform for success - empowering neurodivergent women in the rail industry

Thursday 27th April 12-1pm

Lexxic are leaders in empowering neurodiversity in the workplace. A specialist psychological consultancy, we believe that all minds belong, so it is our mission to inspire a working world that supports and values the talents of neurodiverse minds, empowering individuals to be their best selves at work.

The session will cover:

- What is meant by neurodiversity.
- Characteristics of the main neurodifferences and how they may present in women.
- The value of neurodiversity and neuroinclusion for your organisation, drawing on evidence from leading employers.
- Practical advice on how to make your organisation more neuro-inclusive.
- Examples of the workplace adjustments and assistive technology that can empower neurodivergent employees to thrive in the rail industry.
- The support Lexxic offers for neurodivergent individuals and their employers
- Q&A
